Thai Wellness Experience

Arusaya Spa at Rose Garden Riverside | Nakhon Pathom

Living a Balanced Life in Rural Thai Wellness Experiences

The tranquility and the old-day charms at Rose Garden Riverside beckon you to quiet your mind and take a healthy and relaxing retreat. Imagine a total rejuvenation of your well-being pampered by the healing recipes of Thai traditional treatments made from local tropical herbs, fruits and vegetables that are both beneficial to your body and taste buds.

Arusaya Spa restores the senses of Thai traditional well-being in the old-day charms. Most of the entire spa is located in the area of Rose Garden Riverside, one of Thailand's longest standing accommodations with the legendary elephant and Thai cultural shows that has attracted people from around the world for over 45 years.

At Arusaya Spa, their Thai Wellness Experience program is prepared in a traditional way, starting with an Ayurvedic observation of your innate body elements, so-called 'dosha' that leads to the special herbal treatments and personal organic diets.

"Thai traditional medicine is taken a holistic approach based on the Ayurveda philosophy about the fundamental body elements," explains Arrut Navaraj, Director of Rose Garden Riverside and Arusaya Spa in Sampran District of Nakhon Pathom. "Each of us is designated to one or combined types of dosha following the periods of our birth, but external influences such as our living environment and lifestyle can slightly change our dosha combinations, so we need to properly adjust our lifestyle for the benefits of our health."

Set in the 70-acre riverside resort of Rose Garden abound with exotic and local botanical treasures, Arusaya Spa seeks local wisdoms when it comes to their distinguished treatments. Coconut oil made fresh from nearby coconut plantation is a tropical treatment that soothes and smoothens the skin; pomelo's skin rich in detoxifying essential oil is carefully hand-crushed to produce rejuvenating and antiseptic scrub that erases skin blemishes and dullness. Also, their 15-acre organic farm across the river is plenteous with fresh and delicious vegetables and herbs that will invigorate both your health and palates.

"We believe in local wisdoms of Thai traditional medicine and simple lifestyle," says Arrut. "And we are working together with many local farmers for more organic produce, including local rice, vegetables, fruits and herbs. It isn't like that you are undergoing a strict health regimen of any kind here; what we offer is more of a relaxation program that boosts your natural well-being by providing you with some health awareness so you can lead a healthier lifestyle later on."

"Each of us is designated to one or combined types of dosha following the periods of our birth, but external influences such as our living environment and lifestyle can slightly change our dosha combinations, so we need to properly adjust our lifestyle for the benefits of our health."

Natural detoxification at Arusaya Spa will make you feel closer to the nature. Wrapped in fresh banana leaves and aromatic white clay, your body will be gently exposed to the sunlight for a natural detoxification. Thai massage and herbal compress eases away your tensed muscles and boosts blood circulations while the ancient arts of 'Reusi-Dut-Ton' exercise gives you a series of self-care stretches you can practice back home when you feel like eliminating some chronic body pains.

The Thai Wellness Experience program also includes a guided meditation and dosha-based diet planning. At the resort's multiple restaurants, you will choose delicious Thai and international meals prepared to benefit your dosha. The guided meditation also helps those suffering from insomnia through the newly-obtained peace of mind that eases away the overwhelming tensions and worries for your total relaxation.

"Sometimes people do not recognize that it is in fact their subconscious routines that make them sick and unhealthy," explains Arrut. "Chronic allergies, stresses and even body pains are almost in all cases caused by our strenuous lifestyles. We hope that by offering this Thai Wellness program, you can come to enjoy a new lifestyle that does not just suit you better, but also restores you back to your healthier self. Even after you go back home, you will be able to sustain a healthier lifestyle based on this new awareness."

Recovery program

Baan Dvara-Prateep | Nonthaburi

At Baan Dvara-Prateep We Practice Fighting with Strong Mind.

Sometime modern medication fails to cure severe disease and some end up with the loss. On the other hand some who stand up against the disease take another path in curing the disease by balancing life. It's quite evident that stronger mind leads to stronger body. With this thinking in mind Kasemsook Bharmornsatit, the creator of Baan Dvara-Prateep knows well how to fight, she herself has fought proudly against her own severe disease.

Life lesson of an ordinary woman who had gone through serious disease but her mind never gives up fighting against it, she discovers recovery in her own way different from the modern medical treatment practiced for such disease. Instead of bad news, her life is filled up with good news. Master Kasemsook has transformed a small house by Chao Praya River, Nonthaburi province to create Baan Dvara-Prateep. From the beginning, Baan Dvara-Prateep is a place for Ms Kasemsook and friends to practice meditation. It's a nice cozy house with simple decoration, great for relaxing and learning Thai culture, located on the bank of Chao Praya River. When others heard what she had discovered; they asked her to open the house to help others.

What did Master Kasemsook discover? She discovered a way to recover your body and mind holistically, strengthen your body and mind and fulfill your soul. These three elements work in co-ordination like a machine if some parts weaken that would mean non-balancing body which will lead to bad health.

“We teach the way to master the mind and to develop quality in health altogether. At Baan Dvara-Prateep, you will know your body well and how your body works in relation to other parts.”

Body recovering at Baan Dvara-Prateep opens everyone’s eyes to see your body and mind clearly. Starting from recovering your body with “Passive Retreat”, the way to recover the state of a coma patient with nature, “Passive- doesn’t mean laying down doing nothing because even we do that our lives continues to move on. Here, the practice will suggest you to live your life carefully, practice meditation, eat well and practice good habit. To take care of your health this way you will not need additional medication or food supplement just practice the delicate way to cure yourself” said Master Kasemsook. Baan Dvara-Prateep’s activities are not on fixed schedule,

“We teach the way to master the mind and to develop quality in health altogether.

At Baan Dvara-Prateep, you will know your body well and how your body works in relation to other parts.”

To develop your health, you have to combine the strength of your mind and body together to improve the system. The body & mind solution will create relationship between body and mind. In a particular case which the patient who has serious disease, Master Kasemsook had created Kasemsook Movement for them. It’s a work out that combines all the movement she had learnt , they’re best for your health and delicate enough for all the joints in your body. It’s an answer for body and soul happiness. It took her 13 years to create and try, it gives great result. It is her trademark work out which she already registered.

“Kasemsook Movement” is the slow movement along with music to help improve your health and soul. Every movement have a great effect to your whole body muscle by stretching, remind everyone of the beauty of life, and develop your soul and boost energy.

Baan Dvara-Prateep also develops the staff with the thinking to develop specialist teacher and student utilizing background experience of local teachers. That's why, we have "Edkit & Happiness Camp" and "The happiness for kids through teacher" program, those who attend can adapt and practice with their company staffs and management. Other courses include learning the culture and how to develop staffs suitable for each company called "The Triple E", and how to develop people to be elegant and well loved called "The Recognition Creation", to care of you to fit in.

Baan Dvara-Prateep is a nice peaceful house on the bank of Chao Praya River where the Thai charming life goes on. It's a place for resting our mind, developing employee's life, improving and taking care of your health (health and wellness by nature).

Soul Development for Knowledge of Awakening Beauty of Stupa

With the love of "Buddhist Pagoda charm", Master Kasemsook told us every Buddhist Pagoda in the world is inside-out art. At Baan Dvara-Prateep, Master Kasemsook had created a room dedicated to Pagoda Museum for everyone who has a chance to learn the philosophy behind the pagoda art around the world. "If you notice, you will know that every pagoda starts from a circle form. The circle represents birth, age, sickness and death, the circle of life. Pagoda is the symbol of Buddhism philosophy that teaches everyone to study their own mind clearly."

Remarks: Only group of 10-15 people and not more than 30 people are accepted. Every course is tailor-made according to the guest's schedule (2 days 1 night and 3 days 2 nights)

Ban Ing Nam Health Resort & Spa | Nonthaburi

Treat Your Five Senses at a Little Place by a Beautiful Stream

You attain the peak of physical health by keeping your inner self healthy. In today's world, it is hard to avoid particles in the air and water that spread toxins and disease. When you want to adjust your way of life and balance your mind and soul, the path is paved for you at Ban Ing Nam Health Resort and Spa.

Ban Ing Nam Health Resort and Spa is a boutique resort that takes care of you when you want to turn your routine around and concentrate on changing your life. The combination of medical therapy with a serene and relaxing atmosphere restores your inner and outer health. It is the perfect therapy for all of your senses, in the middle of a tropical garden next to Pra U-dom creek, a quiet and beautiful stream in Nonthaburi province. Both sides of the creek are lined with charming scenes of local life. Ban Ing Nam provides villas as well as studios in a two-story building decorated in warm tones, like a beautiful cottage in a garden.

"Time doesn't matter when you are here," as you swim in the gorgeous pool next to the creek or lie down in your cool open-air cottage, sipping a chilled herbal drink and enjoying the local lifestyle, while the birds sing in the branches of the trees.

Guests at Ban Ing Nam not only give their body a treat and improve their health but also find inspiration to change their behavior and sustain the improvements in their health. "People's behavior is a crucial factor for good health. If we can change the habits that lead to toxin buildup, we will no longer have the health problems so common today," says Chayachol Hoiraya, Ban Ing Nam “People’s behavior is a crucial factor for good health. If we can change the habits that lead to toxin buildup, we will no longer have the health problems so common today.”

Health Resort and Spa’s marketing manager.

The main purpose of Ban Ing Nam, according to its owner’s vision, is to create a place where you can retreat and take care of yourself. Even conditions like diabetes and obesity can be helped with a personally designed program.

It is clear that diabetes and obesity are “city-life” ailments caused by poor eating habits, so the best way to fix the illness is to fix the habits. After the treatment at Ban Ing Nam, guests will find that they use less and less medication, and eventually not use it any longer.

Before joining the program, guests have a health check and are interviewed concerning their needs, to aid in designing the personal treatment that suits them best, such as working out, spa treatment, food, meditation and testing blood sugar twice a day. Every guest has a unique program, according to their individual needs.

The activities are not complex or difficult, so guests may continue them at home themselves after finishing the program at Ban Ing Nam.

“You might feel that it is strange and uncomfortable at first. But after a while, when you’ve adjusted yourself, you will learn to eat only when you need a meal,” says Chayachol.

Health courses in Ban Ing Nam are run by a professional doctor and taught by experts, who include a personal work-out trainer and a health food nutritionist. Before registering, guests need to set goals about their needs and the results they expect. And then the program begins, without force but with encouragement.

Because changes of habit need to happen willingly, changing your lifestyle means changing your way of thinking first. Then you will know how to protect yourself from sickness without medication.

The health retreat program includes:

Recover Your Health with Slow Living

Baan Kilakarn A Slow Living Time | Samut Songkhram

Slow down,
see the world more clearly
Baan Kilakarn helps you understand.

Let's slow down our steps, stop and think, take time to realize things in life. We may see inside ourselves more clearly. What if we slow down our lives? Do you think that will help us see things from a wider perspective? Life hides its complexities and details, but it all becomes clearer at Baan Kilakarn.

Taking life at a slower pace seems to contradict the modern world, where everything moves at lightning speed. Going slow is for losers, we think. But we also know that the fastest one isn't always the winner. Living in the fast lane, you might miss the small but important things and end up with poor health and a worn-out mind. That is the reason Baan Kilakarn, a small resort in a coconut grove in Amphawa, Samut Songkhram province, was created. Here you can practice the slow life to recover your body and soul step by step – and help you be aware of what your body is telling you, because prevention is better than curing. Baan Kilakarn is a place where you can spend your days in the slow lane, with a holistic health center to help you rediscover the goodness of everything natural.

'Kilakarn' is the Hebrew name of a village in the Bible, where it was believed that visitors could ease all their pains and worries. "Before coming to Baan Kilakarn, you have to leave your worries outside and open your mind to great new things here. When everyone changes how they think, everything in life will change." This is the philosophy of Nattamon Rungsaroj, or Khun Cheng, the owner of Baan Kilakarn, speaking as she serves herbal drinks. "The taste is not that great but it's so good for your health. Many who have tried it ask for the recipe so they can make it at home. It's good for people with diabetes because it helps decrease cholesterol," says Somkiat Rung-rod, or Khun Boy, Nattamon's husband, redecorating one of the rooms.

The charm of Baan Kilakarn is the warmth of a family resort where the owners themselves are very much involved. They share their experience of natural recovery closely with the guests, believing that nowadays, medical technology is not able to prolong what is good in life. It solves the problems that already exist but can not prevent them.

Cheng declared, "We'd like everyone to think slower, look carefully, slow down in everything, learn to let go and not pressure life." Making life slower is the way to prevent poor health and to cure illnesses by the natural method.

"It's not hard or complex at all! We only have to step back and look at ourselves; stop and select better things that make your life simple, and let your mind tell your body what to do and what it needs. This is how holistic medicine works, and everyone can do it; eventually, good health will come."

Nattamon applies natural therapy to bring everyone happiness. Some good Thai customs people often overlook are applied here, such as getting up early, washing your face, mouth and nose the right way, and learning the proper way to shower. And then the guest practices a light work-out such as tai chi, yoga or the "stick dance," according to the guest's needs.

The most important thing is food; Nattamon believes that eating the right amount of organic food can cure even serious diseases; it's not only for prevention but also for recovery and cure. If you wish for the good life, you have to live your life in harmony with nature and in a simple environment.

Our health is better when our body, mind and soul are in balance; that is why the food at Baan Kilakarn is organic, such as local vegetables, Thai herbs and produce, as well as home-grown ducks and chickens – a health retreat the Thai way.

Traditional Chinese Medicine for beauty and face-lift

Benjabohreeraksawej Clinic (B-well Clinic & Medi Spa)
Bangkok

Modern Beauty and Traditional Treatments

Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) analyses a person's health through the observation of life's vital energy. Apart from maintaining a healthful body, TCM can also help restoring our innate beauty with acupuncture that boosts up the body balance for a glowing and younger looking complexion.

Following the philosophy of Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM), B-well Clinic combines acupuncture with contemporary supplements and latest beauty technologies to restore a good body balance that can boost up a long-term health benefits as well as giving you a glowing complexion.

Based on the belief that a healthy body needs to have a good and vibrant flows and circulations of body's vital energy (or 'chi' in Chinese term), Ukrit Jirapatrsuntohn, M.D. begins a diagnosis by analyzing pulses to observe the energies of our vital organs. These vital organs are represented into the Five Elements that works interdependently in a full circle. Sometimes, people suffer from illness and lack of energy when there are energies blockages. The acupuncture, along with individually prescribed supplements, will be employed to help restoring a good energy circulation for long-term health and beauty benefits.

"Traditional Chinese Medicine school believes that our body works interdependently and also closely with our emotions," explains Dr. Ukrit Jirapatrsuntohn of B-well Clinic. "And a healthy body is usually reflected in brighter eyes and glowing complexion. Here, you can have both a smoother, younger-looking skin and a better health at the same time."

“If we know that the Five Elements are the key components of our body, then restoring their functions and the body’s vital energy flow does more than what you need for a perfect health,”

Acupuncture is a technique of inserting fine fillform needles into the specific acupuncture points that lie along meridians which our chi or vital energy is believed to flow. The acupuncture pattern will be designed according to the diagnosis from Dr. Ukrit that obtains from the pulse checking and observation on your skin types, visible symptoms and your general health conditions.

“If we know that the Five Elements are the key components of our body, then restoring their functions and the body’s vital energy flow does more than what you need for a perfect health,” explains Dr. Ukrit. “When people are lack of energy, their skin usually becomes lackluster. You can tell by just looking at them. People who have undergone series of acupuncture usually regain their energy thus obtain the natural glowing complexion that is longer lasting than the application of medicine or plastic surgery alone.”

Supplements, when needed, are also used to ‘kick start’ the restoration process of the body along with series of acupuncture while botox and filler injections as well as lasers are available here. To make the service more comprehensive, Dr. Ukrit explains that while acupuncture helps restoring your energy, botox and filler make the efforts more visible. Also available are ranges of facial laser treatments that Dr. Ukrit says can adjust your complexion, tighten the skin and heal unwanted scars, pigments, spots or even facial hairs.

While specialized in TCM for beauty, B-well Clinic also offers a wide range of total body rejuvenation programs designed for individual’s needs for example, individual acupuncture can be designed for those with chronic fatigue, sleeplessness, and unsolved overweight problems.

Colon Hydrotherapy

HydroHealth | Bangkok

Getting a Cleaner Self through a Cleaner Colon

The modern-day sedentary lifestyle and low-fiber fast food make it more difficult for our bowel to perform its natural self-cleaning organism. Colon Hydrotherapy is a detoxification treatment that thoroughly cleanses our colon system, prevent constipation and improve health in general.

Colon hydrotherapy or colonic irrigation is an alternative detoxification treatment that helps thoroughly cleanse our colon system, prevents constipation and improves health in general.

The modern-day sedentary lifestyle makes it more difficult for our bowel to perform its natural self-cleaning organism. Also, food especially the popular fast-food meals that lack fiber, contain excessive sugar, or a high in red meat diet, and the lack of sufficient exercise, are all the contribution to the constipation that accumulates harmful colon bacteria, yeast and stagnant toxins. All these will be absorbed back into our bloodstream through the colon wall and make us unwell.

“A colonic session involves a slow infusion of warm and filtered water into the rectum by a colon therapist to cleanse and flush out the colon,” explains Dr. Piyawan McBlain, the resident doctor at HydroHealth Thailand. “The water causes the muscles of the colon to contract and thus pushes the feces and accumulated wastes through the hose to be disposed in a closed waste system. This treatment eliminates the accumulation of toxin and encourages the large intestine to carry out its natural peristaltic action and therefore promoting a clean, healthy body.”

“The water causes the muscles of the colon to contract and thus pushes the feces and accumulated wastes through the hose to be disposed in a closed waste system. This treatment eliminates the accumulation of toxin and encourages the large intestine to carry out its natural peristaltic action and therefore promoting a clean, healthy body.”

Dr. Piyawan explains that colonic treatment is still considered an alternative body cleansing treatment, but it is also believed to stimulate and rejuvenate the digestive system and that a healthy colon is essential for optimal health and well-being of the entire body. People who have undergone some colonic hydrotherapy witness a better health, better skin and even better emotional health.

“There are still doubts about its effectiveness in the mainstream medicine,” explains Dr. Piyawan. “But the therapy has been visibly effective among those who have undergone it. Their health has become generally much better; they become refreshed and even look more beautiful after a few sessions.”

A session of Colonic Treatment at HydroHealth begins with a brief meeting with the resident doctor for overall health check and blood pressure analysis. Dr. Piyawan says those with heart diseases, severe liver and kidney problems or diabetes should not undergo the treatment and also those with severe bowel syndrome and hemorrhoids should postpone it as well. A treatment usually lasts about 40 minutes.

Apart from the Colon Hydrotherapy treatment, HydroHealth also offers a complete ‘cleansing’ package including infrared sauna and detoxifying massage. Infrared sauna that takes place in a private room, helps eliminating toxins accumulated in the deeper skin tissue and enhancing effective perspiration. The detoxifying massage that combines the physical therapy of lymphatic drainage massage with aromatherapy.

“How often one should get the detoxification, depends on his life-style,” says Dr. Piyawan. “Heavy smokers and drinkers and those with regular constipation problems should do it more often than those with regular lifestyles.”

Kamalaya's Introduction to Detoxification

Kamalaya Koh Samui | Surat Thani

Detoxification is not hype.
It's a way to return to your optimal state.

Samui started simply as a place to go for the sun and the sand, but it is now well past that stage. Today, Samui is packed with spa resorts opening up for visitors searching for a healthy retreat and some pampering relaxation to take care of their health and well-being. Kamalaya is one of the acclaimed choices, with their detoxification retreat program to restore your body's balance and make you feel like a freshly blooming lotus.

“You are what you eat” is true for everyone. But since we are pushing our lives faster than ever, it seems impractical to control everything we eat during the day. Unfortunately, most of us accumulate impurities within our bodies. Those toxins, when they build up to a certain level, tilt the body's balance and result in dysfunctions of the organs and, in some cases, severe illness.

Detoxification is thus a healthy option for those looking for a way to restore their healthy selves. Usually designed to help the body flush out those toxins and impurities and restore the natural body balance, a detoxification program usually combines different arts and sciences of body cleansing into one program. The treatments usually cleanse major organs such as the liver and the colon, resulting in improved natural digestion, metabolism, restored hormonal balance and a stronger immune system. Blood circulation will also improve, resulting in some weight loss, as well as a clearer and brighter complexion, which reflects the healthier inner body.

A Wellness Sanctuary and Holistic Spa, Kamalaya is suitably nestled in Samui's beautiful natural surroundings. Kamalaya's Introduction to Detoxification is an option for those looking for total cleansing and detoxification, while enjoying the delicious cleansing cuisines and arrays of holistic therapies that cleanse both your body and mind. The spa also incorporates the important “personal wellness consultation” by conducting the “Body Bio-Impedance Analysis (BIA),” which analyzes the body’s cellular condition, including the metabolism rate, body fat/fluid/muscle ratio, and various other signs, so that the therapist can tailor a suitable program for each guest. The treatments here consist of daily herbal remedies, supplements and therapies that help boost the body’s detoxification process.

“Lymphatic Drainage Massage is different from other types of massage. The feathery light touches drain away the leftover lymph back to the glands located just beneath the skin layers. The massage also emphasizes the important areas of the upper legs, joints and ankles, as well as the neck area and under the arms.”

Their Detox & Rejuvenation programs are also composed of applications of nutritional supplements, health-food cuisine and holistic fitness classes from both the West and the East. The medical science and holistic therapy do not just cleanse your system but also restore the functions of each organ. These programs are designed only by a certified health expert.

Lymphatic Drainage Massage, also a part of the detoxification program, helps eliminate leftover lymph in the organs and underneath the skin. This special massage boosts the lymph circulation and thus the natural detoxification process. By having regular lymphatic drainage massage, your body will strengthen its immunity – important for the natural process of detoxification. However, this massage also has a subtly beautifying effect; the skin is usually brighter, and many people experience a decrease in cellulite and fading traces of varicose veins, even stubborn scars.

As Waroonrat Potpanlert, Kalamaya Spa Manager, explains, “Lymphatic Drainage Massage is different from other types of massage. The feathery light touches drain away the leftover lymph back to the glands located just beneath the skin layers. The massage also emphasizes the important areas of the upper legs, joints and ankles, as well as the neck area and under the arms.”

Apart from the array of holistic retreat programs it offers, Kalamaya is also a wonderful place to relax. The beachside resort’s accommodation ranges from deluxe rooms to suites to villas, specially built to blend in with the lush natural surroundings overlooking peaceful Laem Set Beach. Their restaurants, Soma and Amrita, offer cleansing cuisines as well as delicious Thai meals prepared by skillful chefs.

For Your Information

- It is helpful to drink plenty of water before undergoing the lymphatic drainage massage. A glass before the session and at least 4 glasses after to help flush out the toxins through urination.
- Throughout the detoxification program, guests can also boost the cleansing process with the available steaming, sauna, Far Infrared (FIR); detox body scrubs and wraps programs. Colon Hydrotherapy is also available to flush out any leftover toxins, resulting in glowing complexion and improved metabolism.
- Those looking for alternative health programs, the resort also offers body-balancing options such as traditional Chinese medicine, acupuncture, naturopathy, homeopathy, Chi Nei Tsang and Taoist abdominal massage, and calming exercises such as Tai-chi, Chi-gong, yoga, Pilates and meditation.

Kamalaya's Introduction to Detoxification

Kamalaya's Introduction to Detoxification is available from 3 to 7 nights and the package includes a custom-made detoxification program, cleansing meals and arrays of holistic therapies that not just cleanse away inner toxins and impurities, but also restoring the important balance of your body and mind.

Natural Herbal Treatment

Khaokho Talaypu Resort | Phetchabun

The balance between life and nature is a life-long quest.
Search for the answer at Khaokho Talaypu.

Keeping the balance between body and mind is a practice beneficial for your daily life, but there's still more. Keeping our balance between life and nature is another practice we should take up because we live our lives in nature. This is the path Khaokho Talaypu has taken, with a purpose that endures.

At this holistic health farm, 3,000 feet above sea level, the temperature is around 17 degrees Celsius all year round. The cool weather has long made Khao Kho a popular travel destination for Thais. When they come to Khaokho Talaypu, they have more than the climate to enjoy – they are also amazed by the 150-acre herb plantation.

“God has given us this fertile plot of land where many kinds of plants can grow, and some of them can't grow anywhere except here, such as many local herbs,” says Sonthi Chomdee, managing director of Khaokho Talaypu Co., Ltd., the country's largest holistic health farm, which produces a variety of herbal products that meet the toughest quality standards.

“Our products don't use only one herbal ingredient; we mix different kinds of herbs to create the best effect. We humans knew how to cure ourselves in the old days, but now, we close our eyes to our own beliefs. The wisdom of the East has taught us to cure ourselves using natural remedies. Using surgical tools or modern medicine is the last choice,” Sonthi says.

Herbal products from the farm are well-accepted all around Thailand, with quality certified by its manufacturing process, which meets world standards.

“Hundreds of herbs on the farm are grown for many purposes, such as making the products, developing new products, and maintaining production. One goal was to produce a seven-color herbal tea, which has amazed the world.

The safety of the natural ingredients is controlled from the origin. Some herbs are purchased from local growers to meet the demand, and all undergo the same strict screening.

The products from Khaokho Talaypu can be divided into three groups: food and drinks, cosmetic and spa products, and medicinal products, the most popular being the cosmetic and spa group.

“Hundreds of herbs on the farm are grown for many purposes, such as making the products, developing new products, and maintaining production. One goal was to produce a seven-color herbal tea, which has amazed the world.

“Normally, herbal tea has no color, so we created colors to add some feeling to its appearance. It’s 100% natural color, which took a long time to develop. We could achieve this because of our wide variety of plants and our knowledge of Thai traditional medicine.”

The Holistic Health Farm at Khaokho Talaypu is a land of health, consisting of all the right elements: natural farming, an organic vegetable farm, and a resort on the edge of a forest, beside a lake. It is the center of materials for the production of locally owned products. It is also a hub for collecting produce and selling and trading local products. Many healthy activities are held in this natural atmosphere.

Khaokho Talaypu offers a variety of activities for great health, which includes both body and mind, in an environment created from Thai wisdom and natural treasures. “Human beings are a product of this world, born of perfection, but to survive, we need to rely on nature, as in the saying, ‘When you cut only a flower, a star in the sky may shatter.’ This means that humans and nature are connected. Nature consists of the earth, trees, the sun, the sky and the stars; it is our mother. The simplicity of being happy is not taught in any school. We have to learn by sensing it deeply in our heart, and we might hear that our heart always calls for nature.”

Healthy Body Happy Mind at Khaokho Talaypu

You will feel the nature with Khaokho Talaypu at Khaokho Talaypu Holistic Health Farm. Talaypu kitchen is “delicious foods for health and mind”. Here you will experience natural agriculture, garden, farm, organic vegetable farm, herb plantation, and view the manufacturing of herb products.

On-Sen Bath

Phu Pha Nam Resort | Loei

Have a Relaxing On-Sen Bath amidst Breathtaking Views of Loei

Hydro-Therapy has existed since ancient times; people believed that water was a power that formed an important element in the balance of life. Phu Pha Nam resort has brought the miracle of water for your personal retreat in its “hydro-therapy program,” which creates an authentic Japanese on-sen atmosphere amidst the mountains in Loei province.

Phu Pha Nam resort is located among the scenic hills of Loei province in Northeastern Thailand. Every room is constructed of golden teak, which creates an atmosphere of beauty and elegance, and makes you feel even closer to the great world of nature around you.

Phu Pha Nam Spa is decorated throughout with nature, Thai style. It is created for your privileged relaxation, a place to let go of any stress and enjoy the relief brought on by the pure nature of the mountains and the gorgeous, cool mist at the only Japanese style on-sen bath in Loei.

Hydro-Therapy is a healing art though which everyone can feel its curing power and find relaxation of body and mind, due to the fact that water is not only an important part of the human body but also the main component of many kinds of food. In whatever form, whether it's liquid, ice or gas, water can help you relax, while stimulating detoxification and blood circulation. Today, many types of Hydro-Therapy are used for balancing the body.

A popular method of Hydro-Therapy is plunging yourself into warm water, which is called on-sen. At Phu Pha Nam Resort, the highlights of Japanese on-sen are adapted to Thai customs. “You don't have to be naked – unlike on-sen in Japan,” says Anurak Tubtimtong, PR executive of Phu Pha Nam Resort, with a laugh.

One welcome purpose of dipping into the warm water of the Phu Pha Nam On-Sen bath is to relax after the 400 km journey from Bangkok. The natural mineral water is warmed by solar energy, maintaining the temperature at 30 degrees Celsius in order to stimulate your body’s temperature control.

Our body controls its temperature through an automatic nerve center called the “Hypothalamus,” which sends signals through the nervous system of our body, making it warm up or cool down.

It’s only human nature to soak in warm water to relax and relieve stress and tension, or to use cold water to awaken our senses. You may have felt the effect if you tried to wake yourself up by taking a warm bath but ended up sleeping like a baby. Cold refreshes your body; heat brings on relaxation and sleepiness.

By plunging in a warm on-sen, you will be relaxed, and one great result is to give you a better night’s sleep.

“We have both hot and cold on-sen, around 20 degrees. In winter, soak yourself in the warm on-sen and you’ll truly enjoy the panoramic view and the gorgeous natural surroundings. The combination of the therapy and nature will free your mind from stress.”

Balance Your Body

Photalai
The Thai Wellness Center | Bangkok

An Urban Getaway that Makes Peace with the Past

With its vast, luscious green space in the middle of suburban Bangkok, Photalai easily claims itself to be the capital's biggest 'spa resort.' But with its strong background in Thai traditional massage and healing treatments, the place is also known for its comprehensive Thai spa services for big groups of tourists seeking for experiences of Thai traditional medicine.

Photalai can be described the combination of city resort with Thai traditional massages and treatments available for tourists looking for a day of pampering services. The place offers a wide array of day-spa services created with traditional recipes, ranging from the traditional Thai massage to full-blown pampering beauty spa treatments.

"We have adapted Wat Po's traditional massages and other healing recipes into our own," explains Kannika Kredkruemas, Sales Manager of Photalai. "The result is much softer, milder yet still effective. There are healing treatments and massages of Photalai's programs with comforting treatments available such as steaming, body scrubbing and foot spa to make the services more comprehensive."

Highlights at Photalai include the revival of Thailand's oldest traditional self-care Yoga, 'Redsi-Dut Ton', which has a long history tracing back to the Ayutthaya period. When establishing Ratanakosin, King Rama I had this ancient knowledge revived in forms of stone inscriptions on the walls of Wat Po, Thailand's first university. Later, the Tangtrongchit Family, the founder of Wat Po's Massage, perpetuated the arts by disseminating the knowledge to the people. Photalai not just performs this art as a reception welcome to its visitors, but also teaches them some simple techniques that they can use back home to relieve their own body pains.

“Because Reusi-Dut Ton composes of series of stretching postures, it increases the body’s blood circulations. However, it is important that you know the right way of doing each posture otherwise it can be quite harmful to your body,” explains Kannika.

Calling itself a ‘Thai spa,’ Photalai embraces modern-day pampering disciplines into the Thai traditional ways. Their arrays of services include Photalai signature massage, therapeutic massages, aromatherapy massages and arrays of beauty treatments for body and face.

Photalai’s Balance Your Body package combines highlights of Thai traditional medicine and well-being into a 3-day program. Guests will experience the show of the Reusi-Dut Ton exercise on the first day of their arrival and later on the last day they will learn how to do it themselves.

Volcanic Sand Bath

Rainbow Arokaya Holistic Longevity Center & Health Resort
Chachoengsao

Holistic health retreat
for great recovery
of your body and mind

Many new technologies were invented by human to cure serious disease; one of the most interesting new inventions is “Volcanic Sand Bath.” This fast forward invention at Rainbow Arokaya becomes their trademark known in South East Asia for effective and quick recovery.

Rainbow Arokaya is a holistic medical center to treat and restore your health. You will stay in a beautiful natural garden, a great place for those who love to be in a peaceful environment and would like to get away from today’s hectic life. On around 10 acres of land, you will find modern and elegant Thai rooms built under shades of big trees, you can choose to stay among the greenery of the trees and morning birds singing or beside the river.

Even though the resort is surrounded with nature, Rainbow Arokaya doesn’t practice only a natural way for recovery but also introduces you to a new innovation uniquely belong to Rainbow Arokaya - “Volcanic Sand Bath”. Its uniqueness lies in releasing the body toxin and fat with super fast result.

A healthy life consists of a balanced combination of mind, body, foot, rest and exercise. It seems easy but actually is difficult for people who live a city life which sometime turns our life into a wrong way of living, in addition city life is packed with pollution and toxin which can be accumulated in our body without us knowing. These are the factors that make your body exhausted and it might ended up causing a severe disease.

“The blood density checking is to check that the molecule needs to be free and separate from each other, not stick together”

Based on Nano Technology “Volcanic Sand Bath” uses the volcanic sand that is treated with heating process until it contains “far infrared” and negative static that stimulate the body to release toxin, restore the body system and burn out the fat. It also gives the best effect to the movement of your body and muscle exercise in order to help strengthen your body posture.

However, far infrared is a recovering power that makes your cell stronger, and can be found in your daily life. Most of the time, we receive far infrared from the morning sunlight, which can penetrate underneath your skin as deep as level 5-6 of skin level. Volcanic Sand Bath can create far infrared to cure your body at any time of the day.

“The heat from Volcanic sand makes your blood vein expand faster and blood flow better; then your body will easily release toxin through sweat.” Nongnapat Hemwong or Pa Yok, Assistant to Vice President of Rainbow Arokaya explains. The holistic health clinic is divided into several functional areas such as the aura test, Jacuzzi, massage, sauna and volcanic sand bath. This volcanic sand comes from natural volcano rock grounded into dust then forming it into a small rock. Every time the guest uses the bath, the staffs will warm the water in the bath to 100 degrees. The stone will maintain the heat and be ready for the guest to undertake the treatment. In every program (Volcanic Sand Bath or massage). There will be therapists who taking care closely of the guest in every step of both Volcanic Sand Bath program and the massage.

Before plunging yourself in a volcanic sand bath, you have to undergo health check by filling in the health form, checking blood pressure and heart beat; then taking the aura test which will scan both of your hands in the aura machine. The Therapist will analyze your health according to the result that displayed on the computer screen in various colors. Other than that you will also get blood test and blood molecules checking from the camera tube.

“The blood density checking is to check that the molecule needs to be free and separate from each other, not stick together” The nurse explains and tells us more about blood status whether it’s too thick or it has anti-oxidant or other things that you need to do to improve it.

From that the staffs will take you to Volcanic Sand Bath, give you a glass of water and let you take a shower. Before getting into the bath, you have to check blood pressure, weight and body fat; then the staffs will tell you to slowly plunge into the bath and throw Volcanic Sand in until it’s piled up to your neck; let you soak in the bath for 8-10 minutes which during that time the staffs will give you a massage.

“While we are in the bath, the heat from the volcanic sand will penetrate underneath our skin about 3-4 cm. to melt our fat and metal and releasing it through your sweat” Pa Yok explains.

After plunging yourself into volcanic sand bath, our staffs will again check your weight, body fat and blood ; then ask you to take cold shower to balance the temperature. Our staffs will also clean the bath with boiling water. Up to this point, you will see your body fat and toxin that just came out from your body clearly.

And to get the best result, you can restore the balance your body with our therapist by using the art of physical motion therapy plus standard chiropractic of western doctor.

Starting from aroma massage, it helps relax your muscle, then using muscle relaxer equipment to push body lotion made from natural Volcanic sand to give “Far infrared power” and negative static to pull out toxin from muscle and exercise joint in back bone, same effect as acupuncture it makes the tissue around back bone area to work better.

Next is 3 steps neck muscle relaxer with ultrasound machine:

- Release problem muscle with electric stimulus by using micro massage result to release the muscle and help blood flow
- Stimulates ab muscle with muscle stimulator machine, make your ab strong and decrease the crocked and
- To work out specific muscle which need most care

Lastly, when you finish the program, you will find “change your posture, change your life” in a blink of an eye.

BMI Management & Doljit

Revitalite Healthy Life Management Center | Bangkok

Retain Your Health and Well-being with an Optimal Body Mass Index (BMI)

Being an Elementary Body-Fat Measurement, Body Mass Index or BMI is used as the major tool to keep an optimal weight in a person for totally healthy wellbeing. A balanced BMI can be achieved through a total change in an individual's lifestyle that includes healthier diets, regular exercise, and a new state of mind for long-term achievement.

Body Mass Index (BMI) is an Elementary Body-Fat Measurement that measures a person's weight and height in proportion to identify a person's health and optimal wellbeing. BMI is one of the widely used diagnostic tools that can precisely identify the sign of obesity which is usually a cause leading to numerous health problems in a person.

At Revitalite Healthy Life Management, BMI is the key tool applied to 'manage' a healthy lifestyle for an individual. Whether you want to lose weight or regain the body strength and balance, keeping a sound BMI check is a foundation of a healthful and youthful well-being. "Each person has different measurements for a total well-being," explains Dr. Pichit Suvanprakorn, Revitalite's Founder. "And to have a balanced BMI means our body works in optimal state. Those with imbalanced BMI, diagnosed through our extensive "Physio Scan" can have a tailor-made program for an overall body care that sustains one's health, beauty and longevity for long term."

'Physio Scan' applies soft electrical currents as a tool to detect abnormalities of the body's vital organs even before the problems actually occur. The scan also identifies, for example, physical fitness levels, behavioral problems that affect the well-being, nutritional deficiency, levels of hormones and brain wave patterns for the specialists to analyze and later design a healing program to fit an individual. Dr. Pichit says that in most cases, our body starts to degenerate when we reach 35 years old with our metabolism slowing down and immune system deterioration.“That’s why tailor-made body care program is much better because it suits each person’s lifestyle and his needs perfectly,” says Dr. Pichit. “You can’t copy someone else’s pattern in terms of health and wellbeing. Our house specialists are all here to design a custom-made health course for you for long-term benefits.”

“You can’t copy someone else’s pattern in terms of health and well-being. Our house specialists are all here to design a custom-made health course for you for long-term benefits.”

BMI management at Revitalite branches out in myriads of life-management services. It is pretty similar to having a life coach walking with you through a healthier, better self. Its ‘Revitalite Excellent Year Plan’ for example, is the utmost anti-aging program that takes one whole year to ‘reinvent’ yourself deep down in the cell and the result is a new younger you, slimmer figure, firmer body and healthier weight .As a result you have a healthy living regimen that leads to a quality life and longevity.

Doljit technique (Subconscious Management) is another unique treatment available at Revitalite. According to Revitalite’s Psychologist Consultant Dr. Usanee Anuruthwong, Doljit helps people changing their lifestyle without having to endure the usual ‘torturing’ anguished and deprived states because of the contradiction among our brain parts.

“Our long-term stubborn habits are controlled by our subconscious which is controlled by the powerful lower brain part,” explains Dr. Usanee. “So when we want to change an addicted habit, most people just change it only on the superficial level, and not on the subconscious level, that’s the cause of our frustration. Doljit works by changing a subconscious, and that’s why it can change an undesirable habit forever without having you suffering from the change itself.”

A Doljit session begins in a controlled room with the client selecting his or her favorite colour, tones, and tunes. In his or her sub-consciousness, the practiced psychologist will then add a command honed towards a new preferable habit. Those who want to quit smoking, for instance, the command line will be as simple as something like “I do not want to smoke anymore.” After 3 sessions of a ‘head-start,’ the client should be able to gain a new-founded subconscious thus, adaptive to the new desirable habit.

Doljit must be carefully operated under the supervision of a certified therapist. Dr. Usanee says that a person should practice ‘Doljit’ to tackle one problem at a time. Doljit is also applicable to all sorts of addicted problems such as smoking and drinking and it yields long-term result because our new subconscious has changed towards a new behavior.

While Revitalite’s BMI Management can target those wishing to achieve weight-loss, it can be utilized to design other programs as well i.e. ‘Facial Design,’ ‘Holistic Rejuvenation,’ and ‘Anti-Aging treatments.’

Cleansing Fast Program

The SPA Koh Chang Resort | Trat

Restore not only your physical health but also your mind, body and soul on the tropical paradise of Ko Chang

Never before in history has mankind been exposed to such an array of toxins present in food, air and water as in today's world. The physical effects from such toxins are evident in the rampant growth of autoimmune diseases. The number of individuals suffering from allergies has reached an all-time high. It is time for us to pay attention to our own selves, time to attentively listen to our bodies and treat them right with a Cleansing Fast Program.

The SPA Koh Chang's Cleansing Fast Program is specially designed to help lower the level of toxins and impurities that have accumulated in your body and bloodstream and make the inner you refreshingly clean again.

"Each year, we are exposed to more toxins and our bodies absorb them without our noticing it. That's why some of us are always exhausted. We don't feel fresh and never have enough energy. These are the effects of toxins that accumulate in our bodies for such long periods. What we can do is to heal the body through a detoxifying process." For Kamthorn and Peeranuch Orn-Indra, the owners of the SPA Koh Chang resort, this insight is the inspiration for the Cleansing Fast Program, the fasting program highlighted at their charming resort on Salak-Kok Bay, on the island of Ko Chang, in Trat.

Located in the middle of an exotic tropical rain forest, at a lovely, isolated end of the island, the SPA Koh Chang offers you proximity to nature, while providing privacy and personal convenience. Leave behind the stress and strain of your everyday life and take time to recuperate in the most tranquil and peaceful paradise you will ever find. And be reborn again to the gloriously purified new you.

The SPA Koh Chang's cleansing program puts special emphasis on information that will help you continue to feel better and live longer, going beyond merely detoxifying. Its purpose is to help you learn about yourself, to understand how the process of health works and to recognize the basic practices in taking charge of your own health. Here, you will learn to embrace nature and allow its power to help cleanse away impurities and toxins from your body, while returning you to a state of inner balance.

"Both of us are what you could call health-conscious. We learned how healthy diets and exercise can affect us, and we've embraced it as a way of life ever since – and the results we've achieved are incredible. We couldn't wait to share with other people our learning and the experience of regaining vibrant health through fasting, healthy exercise and controlling one's diet. That is why we've made this resort a healthy learning center. Our intention is to offer a place for everyone to learn these practices for taking care of his or her health with 'Cleansing Fast,' our signature program," explains Peeranuch.

The Cleansing Fast Program at the SPA Koh Chang is not just about fasting but also about how to feel better and live a healthier, happier life. The goal is for you to embrace a better path to health and to continue to live your life in a healthy way.

Leave behind the stress and strain of your everyday life and take time to recuperate in the most tranquil and peaceful paradise you ever find.

"The program's main objective is not about losing weight or getting in shape but allowing your body to concentrate its resources on healing. This fasting program is specially designed to help your liver, the main organ that focuses on cleansing toxins from the system, until it temporarily stops producing bile, allowing your liver to work to its full capability."

The SPA Koh Chang offers two Cleansing Fast Programs for you to choose from. The 3½ Days, Semi-Fast and the 7-Day Clean Me Out. However, not everybody can accomplish the cleansing in the given period; many need to spend more time on the program. For that reason, ensuring that your body is prepared prior to your arrival is recommended, because fasting will not be effective if your body is not ready. It is common for guests to reschedule their fasting for the next week, or they may extend their stay to nine days.

The golden rule of any cleansing fast program is to have a pre-cleansing period before you do the cleansing fast. Normally, the body tends to be high in acidity, a result of the high level of toxins built up in the bloodstream. By doing pre-cleansing, you increase the level of alkalinity until the pH balance in the body is at an equilibrium. This involves consuming mostly raw foods, such as fruit and lots of vegetables, and drinking plenty of water. Avoid heavy proteins and sugar, as well as coffee and alcohol.

A pre-cleansing fast may be done at home at least 3-5 days before the appointment date. Once you've arrived, even if your body is still over-acidic, the specialists at SPA Koh Chang will accentuate your body system by providing Liver Flush Drink twice daily until your alkalinity level is satisfactory.

The 7-Day Clean Me Out Program

For those who've decided it's time to do something good for their health, this is your answer. This program is a powerful way to eliminate toxins from bloodstreams, cleanse your liver and intestine systems.

For 7 days you have to monitor your diet. You can't eat solid food. This may sound severe but you will be served with drinking meals, including 5 specially prepared Detox drinks, 1 Liver Flush Drink, 2 veggie broth soup, 1 carrot juice and 1 coconut water, together with 5 herbal nutritious tablets daily. These meals will help detoxify and supplement your body.

The program also includes meditation and yoga classes to add more positive reaction to the fasting course. Morning meditation and yoga regime offer the most effective exercise for your physical, mental practice and also more oxygen intake by breathing exercise training. Then stomach massage therapy is introduced to stimulate bowel movement and enhance detoxifying process. Followed by herbal steam allows the body to efficiently cleanse away impurities through sweats. Sea water soak closes the day program to nourish your body with healthful minerals.

It is also important to end a cleansing correctly. You can give 3-5 days of fruit and vegetable diet, followed by raw food diet before gradually return to your normal meals.

Massage and Spa for Four Elements

Suk Spa, The Spiritual Herbal Spa | Bangkok

The Slum Scenes at Suk Spa is an Alluring Surprise for the Sight, yet Beneficial to the Body and Mind

Earth, Water, Wind and Fire are the Four basic elements of our body. It is the Thai traditional belief that a person should take care of his or her 'body element' for a balanced health and well-being. To keep the body element balanced means more than taking care of the body, and also the soul and spirits that reside within.

Taking a step into Suk Spa and you know you are in a totally different world. Whereas many spas in Thailand choose to portray the 'royal' and 'luxury' sides of Thailand, Suk Spa creator decided it would be more fun to give Thailand's slum scenes a chance to shine. The result is a very good spa unlike others with its own unique interior decoration to make one feels as if making a journey back to the past of Thailand, to the crowded slums surrounded by cluttered wooden houses with tin roofs completed with putrid water.

"I think tourists should have a chance to see the other side of Thailand," explains Thanwat Suwinai Puksabenja, Suk Spa owner and creator. "I think people visiting Thailand have already been exposed to a lot of beautiful sides of our country. So when it is my turn to create something, I want to make a difference."

Located in a simple shop house off the busy Sukhumvit Road, Suk Spa is lush with the surrounding pot plants that effectively pacify the place. The wooden façade of the place hints the interior atmosphere which is dimly lit, yet calm and intriguing. Also, once you look at the receptionists, you know how tongue-in-cheek the whole idea of Suk Spa is all about. Clad in Thai traditional dresses, these beautiful ladies also wear big tattoos drawing Thai traditional spiritual sign “Thai traditional dresses can be the daily costume people can wear whenever they like. We do not need to be all prim and stuffed to wear it and this is how I think we can help perpetuate the Thai culture - just by using it in every day’s life.”

(as seen on the logo of their spa products) on their open slender shoulder.

“People perceive this place as over the top but I think people should give the Thai traditional dress a bit more respect,” says Thanwat. “Thai traditional dresses can be the daily costume people can wear whenever they like. We do not need to be all prim and stuffed to wear it and this is how I think we can help perpetuate the Thai culture - just by using it in every day’s life.”

The treatments at Suk Spa also reflect the owner’s philosophy. Based on the traditional Thai medicinal approach which practice healing people according to their innate body elements, Suk Spa creates different spa menu to suit each person’s health requirements. Thanwat explains that usually people possess their specific elements under the influence of their birth sign. For instance, those born in May, June and July have Wind element while those born in November, December and January have Earth elements. Both groups have different body structures, requirements and temperaments and thus need different approach in getting them back to balance and restore the best of their natural health.

“People of Earth element usually have bulk body structure and weigh quite a lot,” explains Thanwat. “When their basic body elements are imbalance, they usually experience depression, hesitation and stress. The most common illnesses they may experience include body pain, aches and low blood pressure. Consider this as the base of our treatment, we hope we give treatment more effectively, resulting in our guests feeling at their best after the treatments.”

Day spa at Suk Spa includes Body Treatments for Four Elements (Hydrotherapy, Body scrubs, and Body wrap), Massage for Four Elements (Foot reflexology, Foot reflex massage, Anti-stress back and Shoulder massage, Traditional Thai massage, Thai herbal heat massage and Swedish massage), Facial treatments and Suk Spa packages. Guest, once checked for their body elements, will be presented with the optimal choices of spa products for them to choose from for their treatment. Also after the treatment, a health advice will be given to the guests such as diet guide they can practice back home.

Chi Nei Tsang Massage

Tao Garden Health Spa Resort | Chiang Mai

Healing Based on Taoist Principles: Good Air, Good Water, Good Food

In ancient Chinese belief, Natural Phenomena are run by two opposing forces, or Yin and Yang. Taoism regards everything in the universe as composing of two opposing and conflicting sides, including the human body. The cause of various diseases is believed to be the loss of equilibrium between Yin and Yang. How to restore such vital equilibrium is what you will experience at the very first step entering Tao Garden Resort.

This resort with intense health programs was originated by Master Mantak Chia, with over 45 years of knowledge and experiences in alternative medicine. He combined medical knowledge based on Eastern philosophy with Western medical science for the treatment and healthcare of those around him and some interested persons, both Thai and foreigners for about 20 years. With the belief that good water, good air, good food, good chi, good heart and good mind are components of a holistic life. Various programs to restore equilibrium back to the body according to Yin and Yang principles have thus been invented at Tao Garden Health Resort. They range from blood test with Dark Field Analysis method which can give clearer status of contaminants in the bloodstream than normal methods, detoxification by means of direct massaging over the navel and the surrounding abdominal area called 'Chi Nei Tsang' to treat internal organs, the method which is highly popular at present.

'Chi' means energy, while 'Nei Tsang' refers to internal organs. This 'Chi Nei Tsang' is the massaging technique based on the meridian model of Taoism, through the motivation of internal organs to work efficiently. Each meridian is linked and intertwined. The massage clears the connection of the meridians to Chi, the vital energy which affects human body and mind. Have you ever noticed that often stomach troubles and sickness caused by indigestion, constipation or renal colic indicate the blockade at meridian points of the body? Chi Nei Tsang is meant to release those knots or blockades, believed to be the best and safest method as well.

Whenever food is consumed, it travels through the alimentary canal to the intestine, with all related parts functioning, from the bile duct, the colon, to the intestine, which churns and liquidizes food in their rhythm, like our personal food processor that keeps working before filtering food particles to the intestines. Thus, exercising or massaging is required to enhance efficiency of those organs and to eliminate toxin in the gastrointestinal tracts.

Chi Nei Tsang massage therefore, does not involve just the pressing of muscles. Masseurs must be knowledgeable about human anatomy and the process of nutrient absorption system, so as to massage through the absorption system correctly. They must be experienced enough to ‘unblock the air canal’ to effectively define the direction of blood circulation. They must also have faith in life force, in order to “receive” and “release” the energy at appropriate step and rhythm.

An experienced therapist starts the treatment by pressing the ‘Tan Tien’, the point about 2-3 inches lower from the navel, lightly but firmly, before releasing. You will feel the circulation inside your body, as the air canal is unblocked and the internal organs stimulated.

The well-trained therapist then presses the area point by point, up and down, left and right, in the learnt step and defined duration, causing some pain at certain points. An experienced therapist can identify disturbances in the abdomen through the touches. She would continue the massaging of the abdomen in steps to complete the course.

‘Chi Nei Tsang’ thus releases negative tension and stimulates vital energy to internal organs. Physically, it treats constipation, adjusts muscles in the abdomen, and eliminates toxins from the body, resulting in relaxed body and more effective functioning of internal organs. With regular massaging of the abdomen, you can clearly feel good physical and spiritual health.

TRIA's programs for new mothers

TRIA Integrative Wellness | Bangkok

Getting a New Mother Ready for Her Big Day

Pregnancy is a wonderful journey for a family given that the mother is well taken care of throughout the period. When a woman gets pregnant, she is embarking on an exciting trip towards the unknown. Her body, as well as her emotions, change dramatically and with that come confusion, anxiety and even depression in some cases.

“It is very important that the woman receives a proper care throughout her pregnancy period,” explains Dr. Y.S. Chang, Holistic Health Director of TRIA Integrative Wellness in Bangkok. “During the first three months of the pregnancy, woman usually gets confused and uncertain about what she should do to get herself and the baby healthy. There may be too much information, too much guidance from friends and family to make the situation even worse as well.”

As exciting as the pregnancy can be for a woman, it is also the cause of big worries. Questions that always arise include ‘Will my baby healthy?’ ‘How can I nourish myself properly?’ and even ‘I feel strange with my own body, what’s going on?’

Although TRIA’s new mother’s packages are available for customize, their main offerings are in three major programs. To prepare a new family to get a fine pregnancy, their ‘Preconception’ program is set out for a healthful beginning. Dr. Chang says that a wholesome pregnancy depends largely on the fitness and strength of both partners and thus TRIA’s Naturopathic Consultation is always a good beginning. The consultation here includes Nutritional-Oriented blood test to alert any deficiencies, proper nutritional status and general health prior to the conception. The package also includes body detoxification program, yoga and Pilates sessions to strengthen the muscles, especially the pelvic floor, and the body flexibility.

Their 'Pod Time' program is designed for the final 6 months of pregnancy when the body of the mother changes daily. The program focuses in optimizing the dietary patterns to ensure the best possible start in life of the child. There are also special massages for pregnancy, yoga and treatments to relax, de-stress, ease and prevent aches and pains. The highlight of this package is that the doctors here will prepare you for the pain of labor with a positive mindset so that you have a different view on the natural labor which is our recommended way here at TRIA.

“Our ‘Inner Calm’ program focuses on giving the mother a proper positive mindset towards the natural labor with Pain-Handling techniques,” explains Dr. Chang. “Most women nowadays have a wrong preconception that the natural labor is too painful to endure so they opt, without good reason, for the more dangerous C-section. But here we believe that if a woman is properly prepared for the natural labor both physically and emotionally, they can endure or even enjoy the process of having the happiest moment of their life.”

The Pod Time package covers from balancing medicine and nutrition consulting to private yoga and meditation. Facial treatments, Pre-Natal Massage and Pre-Natal Abdominal Mask and TRIA's special 'Crowning Glory' or an Ayurvedic head massage are also included to promote the rejuvenation of the whole well-being of the mother.

TRIA's 'Newborn Mother' program is for getting the new mother back into shape. Performed at 8 weeks after delivery to tone and strengthen the body of the new mother, the program focuses on rebuilding the muscle tones and strength with proper and private exercises. Their 'Endermologie' treatments stimulate additional weight loss and strengthen the connective tissue for firmer muscles. Beauty treatments with seaweed smoothing body wrap, essential oil massage and a complimentary medicine consultation are also included here as well.

“The best time for a mother to travel out is during the 3-6 months of their pregnancy,” explains Dr. Chang. “During then, the woman feels most active and energetic, and it is the best time for the mother to get prepared and pampered for what to come at the delivery.”

‘Yu-Fai’ New Mother Health Restoration

Vitheethai Yu-Fai Delivery | Bangkok

‘Yu-Fai’ A Traditional Thai Health Restoration for New Mother

Pregnancy, as we all know, leaves traces of changes on a new mother’s body. Tender breast, strained leg and back muscles, overextended uterus and bladder, fat accumulation as well as hormonal imbalance resulting in dull and uneven complexion and also emotion swings are among top visible after-birth conditions among new mothers.

Yu-Fai (roughly translated as ‘staying in the heat’) is an ancient traditional Thai medicinal treatment passed on from one generation to the next for centuries as a mean to restore and rejuvenate new mothers back to their healthy stage for their long-term health benefits.

It has been proved for centuries in the Thai households that mothers who have a Yu-Fai session are much stronger than those without one. Yu-Fai combines herbal healing elements together with Thai traditional wisdom of heated compress and special massages that refresh and rejuvenate the new mothers while help them to relax.

“Yu-Fai, however, must only be performed by a well-trained Thai traditional nurse,” explains Warinda Sirimethachai, registered nurse and manager of Vitheethai Delivery which delivers the treatment to new mothers nationwide. “Because Yu-Fai combines quite a set of strict regimens to improve a woman health, it is important that the nurse really knows what she is doing. Yu-Fai performed by untrained nurse, will be like a mere spa session that can not really heal or restore the health of the new mother like it is intended to be.”

“Because Yu-Fai combines quite a set of strict regimens to improve a woman health, it is important that the nurse really knows what she is doing. Yu-Fai performed by untrained nurse, will be like a mere spa session that can not really heal or restore the health of the new mother like it is intended to be.”

Beginning with an herbal bath of more than 10 local spices and herbs, Yu-Fai's compress of baked salt clay pot strengthens and restored the mother's uterus and bladder back into shape. The compress, when applied with the medicinal leaves of 'plub plung' or crinum lily, kneads away the leftover amniotic fluid, water retentions, accumulated fat and even stubborn cellulite in the body. Traditional blends of fiery Thai herbs applied right on the tummy works together with the heat compress help toning the muscles, culture breast milk and relax the body muscle.

Herbal steam also helps with possible infections of the wounds while special massage at the pelvic muscles restores the pelvis back into its original shape. Yu-Fai also reinstalls the hormonal balance; pacify the possible emotional fluctuation and temperamental shivers that often occur with mothers who did not have a 'Yu-Fai' restoration. Mother who gives birth naturally is recommended to have the Yu-Fai session within 7-10 days after giving birth while mother with caesarean section should wait until 30-45 days after.

"The above timeframe is also an heirloom of Thai wisdoms," explains Warinda. "Because it is during those timeframes that the body of a new mother is massively undergoing the restorative transition and that makes Yu-Fai most effective. To reap the maximum benefits of Yu-Fai, a new mother should not wait for too long for the treatment; health should be more important than time in this matter."

Vitheethai's Yu-Fai Program is a daily routine of Thai Traditional Treatments in a series:

Yu-Fai treatment is available from 5 to 14 days. However, it is recommended that a new mother should have at least 5 continuous days of Yu-Fai for her maximum health benefits.

- The program starts with health check-up to verify the health of the new mother, Yu-Fai is not recommended for those with high blood pressure and serious diseases such as diabetes or heart disease.
- A daily ritual of Yu-Fai includes an herbal bath, hot salt-pot compress, application of fresh and healing plub pleung leaves, fresh herbal balm at the stomach applied with heated compress, massages with fresh sesame oil, pelvic massage, cellulite-busting massage, fresh herbal mask, herbal steams, herbal exfoliation and skin detoxification.

For Your Information

- Rich with Vitamin E, fresh sesame oil can penetrate deep into all skin layers. With a special massage, sesame oil helps wading off leftover fluid, reducing spider veins and nourishes the skin.
- 10-Herbal belt is a very special Thai traditional wisdom that helps restoring the uterus of the new mother, strengthen her body and prevent her from having occasional shivers and muscle cramps.
- Facial and head massages during Yu-Fai stimulate and relax the nerves and help reducing migraine and tensed shoulder muscles.
- Freshly ground coffee beans are combined with special herbal recipe to mask and exfoliate the skin, boost up the blood circulation and thus detoxify the body. Its aromatic scents also relax and refresh the mother. Detoxification is usually performed on the last day of your selected Yu-Fai session.

Eastern Escape

Cape Spa at Cape Racha Hotel | Chon Buri

Let the Eastern Star Leads You to the New Luxurious yet Affordable Indulgence

Set in the old town of Si Racha, once a sleepy fishing village and popular vacation spot for Thai people during the last few decades, Cape Spa at Cape Racha Hotel offers arrays of traditional and modern spa services for those seeking for an affordable solace in the modern Si Racha town which is now the base of many Eastern Industrial Estates.

For those remembering the old day glory of the Eastern seaside villages, Si Racha would inevitably come up as one of their favorite local spots where they would relax, swim and immerse themselves in the total laid-back charms the place had to offer. Times, however, passed and changed the tones of this once sleepy town into a bustling hub of Thailand's growing Eastern Industrial Sea Board, and the locals now see a lot of working expatriates roaming the streets searching for some remaining local lures.

“Thailand’s Eastern seaside provinces such as Rayong and Chon Buri are known for the very delicious tropical fruits such as durian, mangosteen, coconut, rambutan and much more. And at Cape Spa, we decided to use some local fruits such as coconut and mangosteen, both with antiseptic properties, to make fresh body scrubs and wraps used in our treatments.”

“Si Racha was once a favorite family vacation destination for Thai families,” explains Poomiphat Navanukroh, General Manager of Cape Racha Hotel, a luxury hotel and serviced apartment in the heart of Si Racha small town. “But now the scenes have changed a lot. Although Si Racha is now an industrial base for the Eastern part of Thailand, there are still some local charms left for people to enjoy, even with some sorts of nostalgia.”

Cape Spa at Cape Racha is created on the philosophy of ‘revival the great pleasure of the relaxing past.’ As a sister hotel of the famous Cape Panwa down in Phuket, Cape Racha restores ‘local charms’ in its modern and luxurious accommodations and facilities. The place is also close by to Si Racha Night Market and the famous ‘Floating Island’ temple of Ko Loy where you can climb up hundreds of stairs and pay homage to one of Thailand’s oldest floating temples.

Cape Spa’s comprehensive treatments range from facial treatments, body wraps, scrubs and the whole packages with more values for money. Poomiphat explains that since the hotel maintains the quality of its spa throughout the two branches, those who have enjoyed Cape Spa down in Phuket should expect the similarly excellent services when they visit its branch at Si Racha. Dermalogica products are chosen as the main products throughout the two places while some Thai herbs and fruits are selected to make fresh body scrubs and wraps.

“Apart from being close to the bustling Eastern Seaboard, we are also close to the fruits orchards abundant in the areas as well,” says Poomiphat. “Thailand’s Eastern seaside provinces such as Rayong and Chon Buri are known for the very delicious tropical fruits such as durian, mangosteen, coconut, rambutan and much more. And at Cape Spa, we decided to use some local fruits such as coconut and mangosteen, both with antiseptic properties, to make fresh body scrubs and wraps used in our treatments.”

The Eastern Escape package offered by Cape Spa at Cape Racha thus includes both spa services of your choice and extra options for day-trip excursions to the area’s famous island of Ko Sichang (once a famous summer island for King Rama V) and Pattaya City. The spa service included in the package include a 150-minute comprehensive treatment starting with Thai herbal steam, body scrub, body wrap, floral & milky bath, and a choice of aromatherapeutic massage or Swedish or Thai massage.

Kirimaya Treatment

Maya Spa at Kirimaya Golf Resort Spa | Nakhon Ratchasima

Let the Indian Songs of the Deep Valley Rejuvenate Your Body & Soul

Set in the misty rainforest of Khao Yai National Park, Maya Spa acquires their signature treatment remedy from the nearby vineyards where handpicked grapes rich in natural antioxidants are formulated with the ancient therapeutic recipes of Thai traditional medicine together with soothing arts of soft Indian tunes and rhythmic massages that rebalance your total senses and well-being.

Meaning the 'illusion of mountain,' Kirimaya is a minimal style chic resort set in the wilderness of Thailand's biggest and oldest mountain ranges that cover four provinces of Saraburi, Nakhon Nayok, Nakhon Ratchasima and Prachin Buri. Frequented by adventurous travelers who like to take a long hike into the forest or paddle through the vineyards for some fresh tastes of the local wines, Kirimaya also houses a 18-hole, Jack Niklaus-designed golf course very popular among serious golfers who look for both pleasure on and off the greens.

With a wide array of pampering treatments created from Thai traditional medicine and fresh local herbs and fruits, Maya Spa is a spot where even serious golfers are happy to take their time off to revive their energy. And if you are tired of those exhausting expeditions, Maya Spa's ranges of treatments can be also customized to fit your personal needs.

"Maya Spa is known as a place to relax among those visiting Khao Yai and take serious adventures here," explains Wanna Opatavong, Maya Spa's Assistant Manager. "Usually, travelers to the rainforest national park will explore a lot on foot; some might take one or two rounds of golf and thus many have ached body when they come back to the resort. So, we have just the right healing treatments for them all."

Kirimaya Treatment is Maya Spa's signature treatment. The 4-hour indulgence of the senses, as Wanna puts it, restores your 'sensuality of love' with special combined treatments of Indian, European and Thai massages all in one. Pink stones will be placed on your meridian points while the rhythmic massage movements and dances performed with a soft Indian tunes in the background soothes your senses. Sounds funny? Yes, but Wanna says this recipe will just invigorate your total sensual beings and thus very suitable for lovers seeking for a rejuvenation of their love life or simply just a pampering getaway.

Fresh grapes, known for its anti-oxidant properties, are the main ingredients for the body wraps. Wanna explains that grapes contain natural alpha hydroxyl acids that help gently exfoliate the skin while wild honey brightens up and soothe the complexion. "Our signature treatment is a harmonious combination of many ethnic arts and therapeutic recipes," adds Wanna. "We have selected the best of relaxing and healing arts from many places and the result is a treatment unlike other in Thailand."

Detox Treatment at Maya Spa is a special combination of Indian and Chinese therapies. "This is a head-to-toe detox program suitable for those seeking a total renew of their body and mind," she explains. The 4-hour program starts with a special therapeutic and detoxifying essential balm that also nourishes your scalp, hair and skin.

"This special oil is made from a very old recipe of Thai traditional medicine called 'Jatupalathika' which combines 4 ancient fruits of Samor Thai (Terminalia Chebula), Samor Pipek (Terminalia Bellerica), Samor Thet (Terminalia Arjuna) and Makham Pom (Phyllanthus Emblica) that are rich in anti-oxidant properties that detoxify and nourish the skin."

The treatment also includes the very relaxing lymphatic massage that drains away leftover lymph from the body tissue, resulting in clear and clean body systems.

Sport Treatment at Maya Spa is especially prepared to soothe golfers and those spent too much time exposed to the outdoor elements. Sunburned skin usually suffers from redness, inflammation and even rashes and blisters. The naturally emollient substances found in fresh aloe vera and guava fruit are used to soothe and calm the burned skin while the fresh ginger compress relaxes the tensed muscles and repairs the cellular damages caused by extreme exercise. "Needless to say, most travelers to Khao Yai areas usually enjoy strenuous activities of hiking, night safari and even golfing," explains Wanna. "And this treatment is prepared to revive them back to their natural best. Usually, those who suffer from body pains and aches feel a lot lighter with better blood circulation right after the treatment."

Kirimaya Treatment

The signature spa treatment brings together nutrient from red wine and fresh grapes that give you a unique pampering experience to complete your perfect vacation to this wine country. Polyphenols and vitamin E in red wine (antioxidant) help reduce the appearance of lines and wrinkles, leaving your skin smooth and healthy. Tannin, vitamin C and fruit acids in the red wine also help exfoliate and rejuvenate your total complexion and increase your skin's natural well-being for a younger and brighter appearance.

Detox Treatment

This combined treatment stimulates the lymphatic system. It aids in detoxification, purging and cleansing the body impurities. The scalp massage with the Thai traditional detoxifying and conditioning oil enlivens the scalp by opening up the pores, get toxins out of the body and results in toned skin with velvety softness.

Sport Treatment

This soothing and cooling treatment contains potent compounds of aloe vera and fresh guava body wraps to cool down the skin temperature and soothe your body from the discomforts from too much sun exposure. This recipe works well even with the sensitive or stressed skin and proved to be very relaxing. Sport massage with fresh ginger stimulates blood circulation with the herb's antioxidant property. The essential oil aids the body to eliminate toxins and even stubborn fatty deposits while the replenishing moisture improves the skin's elasticity, leaving the skin soft, smooth and radiant with natural young looking appearances.

Thai Wellness and Ashtanga Yoga Holiday Programs

Sukko Cultural Spa & Wellness Resort | Phuket

Reviving the Traditional Thai Living for a Healthier Result

“Back in the old days, our ancestors lived a very simple life. A Thai house was usually a home for an expanded family. We cooked by ourselves and did not use MSG. Our cuisine was fresh and herbal. When a grandparent felt tired and tensed, a favorite grand child would be called up to give a massage. Our lifestyle back then was very laid back and healthy.”

Dr. Nongtanun Tephabuttra,
Owner and R&D Director of Sukko Cultural Spa & Wellness Resort

Sukko Cultural Spa & Wellness Resort is not just a resort with Thai-style accommodations. In fact, the place started out three years ago as a day-spa retreat where people from around the world come to enjoy the experiences of Thai-style easy and healthy living. However, starting this year, the place began to offer rooms and in-room spa services to make the guests feel like they are really living back in the old days of Siam.

“When looking back on how Thai ancestors lived, I learned that the Thai traditional lifestyle was collectively healthy,” explains Dr. Nongtanun Tephabuttra, Owner and R&D Director of Sukko Cultural Spa & Wellness Resort in Phuket. “They were easy-going and used natural healing on daily basis. So here, I want to revive those wisdoms back and reawaken the healthy lifestyles for my guests.”

Services at Sukko are divided into two main parts: room accommodations and Thai wellness & spa services. For those looking for a whole Thai wellness experience, the activities that can be included into your retreat program are “More people get sick following their unhealthy lifestyles. So if we can implant a healthier lifestyle in more people, I hope we do not need to fix things as much as we did in the past.”

Thai macrobiotics, foot massage lesson, Reu Si Dat Ton, Ahstanga yoga, aqua exercise and Muai Thai Chaiya. Also, if you are seeking for serenity of mind and body indulgence, you can always ask for a meditation class and in-room Thai spa services.

A dentist by training, Dr. Nongtanun saw herself treating patients the wrong way. “I was fixing problems more than preventing them,” she recalled of her busy days at the dental desk. “More people get sick following their unhealthy lifestyles. So if we can implant a healthier lifestyle in more people, I hope we do not need to fix things as much as we did in the past.”

A Thai traditional home at Sukko has in-room spa rooms while their lush and plush gardens are filled with Thai herbs and flowers, ready to be picked for the cooking and room decorations. The resort does not have as much ‘resort-style’ florals and faunas like others, because Dr. Nontanun wants her place to resemble a real Thai homes where usually fruits, such as mango trees, and herbs, such as holy basil, chilies, kaffir limes, grown for home cooking.

She says that Reu Si Dat Ton is an ancient Thai exercise that is really useful and even peaceful to your body and mind. It is suitable as the morning ritual to ‘stimulate’ your senses and body. Later, you are recommended to enjoy the delicious Thai macrobiotic cuisines that Dr. Nongtanun says would make you forget that they are healthy foods.

“Macrobiotics is more of a lifestyle than a cuisine per se,” explains Dr. Nongtanun. “In the past, Thais did not eat as much meats as today and that reflected also in our expressions and emotions. People who consume a lot of meats tend to be more aggressive and violent than those consume more of the non-meat meals and vegetables. But our food is also delicious, too.”

But Dr. Nongtanun also understands that travelers to Phuket also need some fun in their trip. It is not like you are attending a strict health camp, she said, and some sea excursions to Phuket’s beautiful islands can also be arranged to make your trip complete.

“I understand that people who come here want to have some fun,” she says. “It’s their vacation, after all. But what we are proposing is a healthier lifestyle that they can practice later even when they go back home. And also, I want to show the world that the real Thai lifestyle is really good and wise in itself.”

Holistic Health Care based on the Philosophy of Thai's Medical Systems

Usually foot reflexology has a relaxing and rejuvenating effect and it can be adapted as a self-care treatment.

Bangkok Natural Healing | Bangkok

Bangkok Natural Healing is all about readjusting the natural balance between our body and the environment following the ancient knowledge from Hindu and Chinese traditional healing methods. treatments have also been included in the health insurances of many countries.”

Working on the traditional healing methods based on the seven Chakras or the Seven Rays of Life in the star system, Bangkok Natural Healing’s philosophy announces that our body needs life energy as much as possible to maintain health and well-being. The more energy comes into the body, the more that person can develop his or her own vibration and go into different levels of consciousness and deeper soul journey which can eventually lead them to the stage of enlightenment in Buddhism. Lee himself has a powerful connection with his soul, it’s resulted in his ability to heal and help people with their prevailing emotions. And that is just a part of his whole story.

While courses at Bangkok Natural Healing are abundant and interrelated, students can select individual class that suits their best interests. Two programs offered here should give you an idea of the whole concept and of course you can later tailor make your classes to benefit you best.

Phu Chaisai Meditation Retreat

Phu Chaisai Mountain Resort & Spa | Chiang Rai

Sometimes,
even silence is so rare,
it's a luxury

Immerse yourself in the total silence and breathtaking views at Phu Chaisai's legendary 'bamboo huts with thatched rooms' stacked three storeys high up on the rolling and serene mountains. Here, you get to learn to live with yourself in a week-long meditation retreat organized especially every year as an act of merits for her late mother.

Phu Chaisai is known for its absolute tranquility. Set deep in the highlands of Chiang Rai, Phu Chaisai (Mountain of Clear Heart), is the best place for a total castaway or meditation. After all, this mountain has been a family home for solace and peace of mind of its founder ML. Sudavadee Kriangjai, a noted Thai interior designer, and her mother Mrs Chaisai who wished to see this mountain a place for meditation.

"When my mother saw this plot of land, she knew she found a perfect place for her meditation rituals," says ML. Sudavadee. "She even built a meditation sala up for that purpose. So when she passed away and I built my resort here, I would like to make merits for her by organizing an annual meditation retreat for anyone who wants to make a voyage within."

So, six years ago ML. Sudavadee completed her mission with the first week-long meditation retreat opened for all people. Words quickly spread and now you need to book at least six months in advance to join. Only 70 people are accepted each year into this Khun Mae Siri Krinchai-disciplined meditation practice.

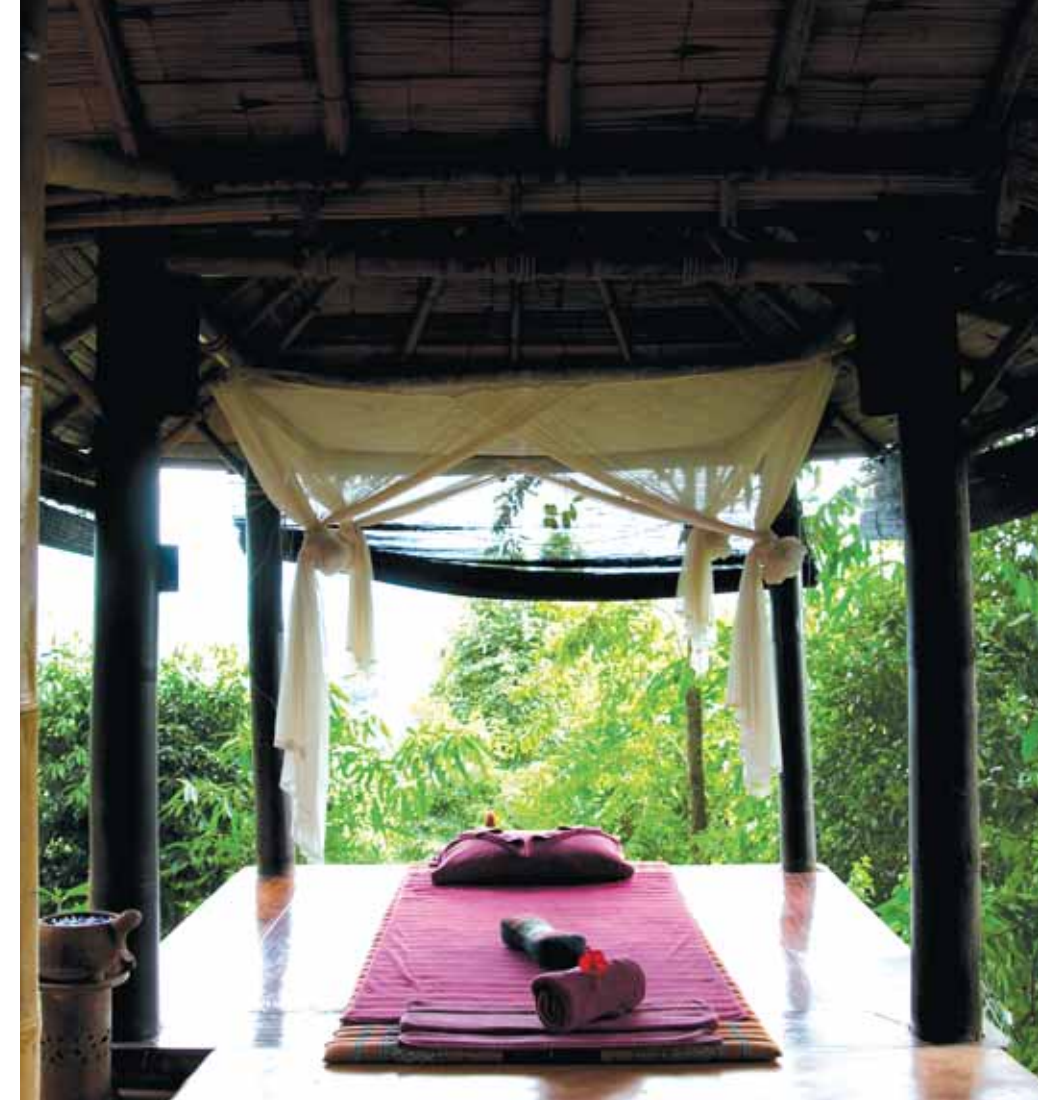

"I have two missions in doing this," says ML. Sudavadee. "First, I want to fulfill

“She even built a meditation sala up for that purpose. So when she passed away and I built my resort here, I would like to make merits for her by organizing an annual meditation retreat for anyone who wants to make a voyage within.”

my mother’s dream. Second, I always have an intention to make the resort a place for both body and soul. Meditation, as I have practiced myself many years back, is a wonderful gift a person can give to oneself. When I experienced it for the first time, I discovered the wonders of inward learning. I had done a lot of things in my life, but I had never before given myself such a wonderful gift like that.”

Phu Chaisai meditation retreat lasts 7 nights/8 days during which you will live in utter silence. Throughout the period, no talks are allowed and your mobile phones will be ‘confiscated’ while vegetarian meals and white clothes will be everyone’s staples. ML. Sudavadee is also planning to add some English meditation classes into the retreat in the near future.

But if you miss the annual meditation retreat, you can still enjoy Phu Chaisai’s serenity and natural beauty. Bamboo Spa is constructed following the resort’s main concept of ‘rural luxury’ utilizing bamboo in the structure and interior overlooking the beautiful panoramic views of Doi Mae Salong. The treatments, arrays of them, focus on reviving the ancient Northern healing treatments to cure today’s health problems such as body pain due to long hour sitting in front of computer or even stress from every day’s lifestyles.

But for city dwellers who want to get away from it all, Bamboo’s Spa signature treatments of ‘Chronic Pain Retreat’ and ‘De-Stress Retreat’ packages are especially created to eradicate your urban fatigues. Key body parts, often ached due to urban office jobs, such as neck, shoulder, scapula and lower back will be de-stressed with massage therapy to relieve them from soreness while luk prakob (herbal compress) will promote blood circulation, using neuromuscular techniques and deep tissue massage.

“Thailand’s Northern sphere is known for the beautiful Lanna culture and we select some of their ancient treatments such as tok sen (literally, nailing the cords) to include in our spa package to heal the modern day’s fatigues,” explains Wasan. “Tok sen was once very popular in the North of Thailand, here we revive the arts and combines it with other effective healing recipes of Thailand.”

For Your Information

- Tok sen is an ancient therapy of the hill tribes in Thailand that includes some spiritual ceremonies such as praying to the house ghosts and spirits. The therapist will use a small baton of tamarind wood (which, as legend has it, has to be struck by a lightning, too) and a small mallet to gently tap the body's main cords and 'vibrate' our sensory nerves for relaxation.
- Phu Chaisai is not just quiet, but also cool almost all year round. The coldest temperature it falls, according to Wasan, is about 8 degrees celsius and that is usually normal temperature during Thailand's 'cool' seasons during December – February of each year.
- The facilities at Phu Chaisai's bamboo rooms, getting along with the place's total tranquility, do not contain television and electronic gadgets such as alarm clock. However, natural tunes from the singing insects and birds enjoying the morning dews should softly wake you up to enjoy the beautiful sunrise at your private large balcony.

Your-Style Body Balancing Program

Putahracsca Hua Hin | Prachuap Khiri Khan

A Quiet Beach is a Beautiful Place to Balance Your Body & Soul

Putahracsca Resort in Hua Hin has always been known as being very ‘lovely’ and ‘relaxing.’ Guests who visit the place come back and tell their friends about how caring in details the owner is. They love her choices for pajamas, slippers, interior designs and very cozy sofa and alluring terrace. And now she is offering arrays of beach-front tailor-made exercises that help balance your body and soul.

A favorite weekend getaway for many Thai people, Hua Hin can still surprisingly retain its old-style charms with the original fresh market, fish pier, and not-so-busy nightlife. Once a resort town for the royal families and their consorts, Hua Hin today is gaining a global momentum as one of the world class vacation spot with many five-star resorts aligning its long beach.

Putahracsca Hua Hin itself also has a long history. Khun Ying Supatra Singholaga, its first owner, bought this plot of land back in the era of King Rama VI and turned it into her own summer home with a bungalow built by the sea. She named it Baan Putahracsca (House of the Cana Lily) when she passed away, the land was inherited to her family and now her granddaughter, Velvadi Sritrairatana. She built this luxurious resort and appropriately named it ‘Putahracsca’ after her grandmother’s initiation.

Located in the residential area of the beach, Putahracsca gives the guests the feeling of ‘being in a beach house’ with rooms from studio to two-storey villas and ocean-bed villas complete with outdoor Jacuzzi and private pool. And to make you vacation complete with some health dimensions, Putahracsca offers arrays their own day-spa services as well as yoga and meditation classes for those looking for a total relaxation throughout their stays.

Josephine Ong works with the guests at Putahracsa in those yoga and meditation classes. A veteran yoga practitioner, Ong is also a certified yin yoga teacher who holds an international diploma in Ashtanga Yoga from the Sivananda Vedante Training Academy of Chennai in India. For her own classes, Ong combines different disciplines of yoga to fit each of her student’s needs.

“Since yoga benefits everyone, but everyone has special physical needs, so it would be better if we can tailor make each class to fit those different requirements,” explains

Ong. “Usually, I can teach group class, but for those who look for more efficient results, I’d recommend a private class where I can focus more on them throughout the time.”

Ong’s philosophy of yoga means she incorporates different yoga techniques into her own fusion of discipline. Guests can enjoy the combinations of Ashtanga yoga (dynamic, exhilarating style), Yin Yang flow (meditative, creative blend of restorative yin postures), Vinyasa flow (linking posture into a continuous dance), and Sivananda Hatha yoga (classic with meditation and breathing techniques) or even meditation practices that combines breathing techniques of pranayama yoga and chanting to find extra calmness, improve their concentration and explore their inner reflection.

“Yoga is different from other exercises because it moves your whole body from the inside out,” explains Ong. “It increases flexibility of our body and even improves performances of the athletes, too.”

Ong also offers yoga therapies for people with special physical requirements with special workshops of yoga therapies help healing back pains, knee injuries and other chronic body pains people also experiences from their daily works. The workshops contain self-healing postures for her students to practice by themselves back home.

“Yoga is not just about stretching or putting one leg behind the head,” explains Ong. “It’s also about connecting the body and the mind, physically, mentally and spiritually. You will feel better internally as well as sleep better and breathe better.”

For Your Information

- Most modern forms of yoga are of ‘yang’ nature, which emphasizes muscular movements through contraction and a repetitive rhythm. Most sports that belong to this similar nature include running, cycling, golf, swimming and aerobics due to their repetitive movements. Yin Yoga, meanwhile, emphasizes deep connective tissues like the bones, joints and ligaments through holding Asanas (postures) for longer periods of time (between three to ten minutes). It mainly targets the lower body like the pelvis, knees and lower spine resulting in deep stretch and improved flexibility in such areas.
- Yin & Yang Flow begins with simple Pranayama (breathing exercises) to calm and focus the mind and body. The practice opens with Sun Salutations in the Sivananda Hatha style, progressing to a series of challenging Yang postures which works the muscles in repetitive motions; then counteracting and neutralizing the body with Yin postures that stretches the deep connective tissues in longer holds. Finally closing the practice with restorative postures for focusing inwards, ending with Shavasana (final relaxation poses).

Meditation and Yoga Retreat

Sri panwa | Phuket

Sri panwa Natural Beauty Goes Hand in Hand with Inner Happiness

A mind conceived through meditation is the foundation of wisdom that leads us to the true understanding of our life. People who meditate see inside themselves and get to understand the natural truth of life. In serenity at Sri panwa, you can let go of the clutters residing in your mind and embrace all the beauty a peaceful Sri panwa has to offer .Here is a palace you will discover the happiness from within.

Living a modern life in a capitalist's world is both confusing and tiring, and that's not just a physical weary. Our mind, closely linked to our body, always suffers from the fast-paced, material-laden surroundings as well. Urban people usually complain about how their mind is exhausting and their feeling gloomy and unhappy even though they possess a lot of money and material things.

Meditation is a sought-after therapy for those tiring minds. Peaceful mind is the core of one's true happiness and a way to maintain a real wellness of our being. People need to practice meditation and adapt the method as the shield against the hectic of the daily life. A trained mind can practice meditation and be peaceful during all daily activities, be it walking, sitting, working, or even during one's journey. Meditation is a method of maintaining a clear mind, allowing people to enjoy the present moment in whatever they are doing.

From the teaching of Buddhism, meditation is a part of Trisikha (Buddhist Three Fold Training) that includes morality, meditation and wisdom. Morality includes the proper and good personal and social deeds that lead to meditation – a state of peaceful mind that can clearly see things as they are. When one person earns both morality and meditated state, he or she will eventually earn wisdom in life which gives them a true understanding of worldly things. Unlocking and freeing their suffering minds from temporal clinging feelings towards materials and even other invisible feelings such as anger, grief and sorrow and even happiness will usually happen.

“Because the practice is not limited only for Buddhists, but it has pervaded widely to all religions as a way for a person to achieve awareness and enlightenment in life. Meditation also helps people living a happy life, resulting in peaceful and happy world throughout.”

Sri panwa is a luxurious beachside resort that offers a meditation retreat for their guests who seek for the inner peace and happiness. The meditation retreat here focuses on the breathing techniques and chanting that create relaxing atmosphere helpful for a person to achieve a real peace of mind.

“Meditation is non religious,” explains Orasiri Ruktaengam, meditation and dharma expert at Sri panwa. “Because the practice is not limited only for Buddhists, but it has pervaded widely to all religions as a way for a person to achieve awareness and enlightenment in life. Meditation also helps people living a happy life, resulting in peaceful and happy world throughout.”

However, the meditation retreat at Sri panwa follows Buddhist teaching that divides meditation process into two folds. Samatha Kamathan means holding on to one focal point to achieve the inner peace and conscience, Vipassana Kamathan means developing your mind to see the natural truths in life. At this stage, wisdom will occur in one person, allowing him or her to see that the usual ‘things or feelings’ that they perceived as theirs are actually not theirs and they will be eventually gone. Once achieving this stage, a person can now apply the wisdom to cope with every problem they face later in life, enabling them to tackle problems with conscience and awareness instead of using emotions and feelings.

Apart from the meditation program, Sri panwa also offers yoga retreat that follows the traditional disciplines of Kaivalyadhama Yoga Institute in India that focuses on correct postures and breathing techniques to achieve the peaceful and wholesome wellbeing. This type of yoga is slow and its stretching postures are easy to follow even by beginners. Yoga, as we all know, combines the body and mind with each breath and movement. Practitioners will not just slowly gain self conscience but also the beautiful toned muscles because it is the exercise that moves the whole body parts and from the inside out, resulting in long-term health benefits.

Yoga retreat at Sri panwa is performed in the guest’s private Pool Villa or at the Sai Spa’s deck with infinity-edge swimming pool and the panoramic view of the Andaman Ocean as your back drop. The estate’s villa range from tropical contemporary Pool Villa to Residential Villa suitable for those looking for a complete family get-a-way. Modern facilities and room amenities are one of the key highlights that will make your time there as comfortable and relaxing as possible. Also, their arrays of holistic treatments are available at Sai Spa set in the tranquility of the natural surroundings that should give you real pampering treatments.

Doo-Jit & Mind Training

Thammatipo's Home | Nakhon Pathom

Everything Starts with the Mind, and When the Mind is at Peace,
We are at Peace and the World is at Peace.

When the Lord Buddha discovered the natural truth: the cause of human sufferings, he began to disseminate his wisdoms into his teachings. One of the most important chapters of his main teachings is 'Mahasati Pattathan 4, Ariyamakmee Ong 8' which is the way to find the heaven in our mind, the total freedom and nirvana while we're still alive.

'Thammatipo' is the name of the preacher monk who perpetuates Lord Buddha's main teachings to the general public. As we all know, people suffer from the worldly chaos of emotions, caused and stirred by our mind that 'encapsulates' all those hearing, seeing, tasting and feeling and translate them into the concrete facts of life.

But Lord Buddha's teaching is for us to look at our mind as a separate unit from our body. By tracing and practicing the mind, we get the awareness of our fleet feelings and thus are able to detach those transients away from our life. With such awareness, we can strip our clinging feelings of like, dislike, love and hatred, for those temporal matters are the causes of all our sufferings.

"Our sufferings stem from the clinging feelings we usually feel towards thing that does not even really exist," explains Thammatipo, the preacher monk who works with Thammatipo's Home in teaching The Doo-Jit or Mind Tracing Practice for people from all walks of life.

"When we see, hear and feel things, we usually choose to attach our feelings with the one we like and one we dislike and that is the cause of all unhappiness. Because when we like something when departing from it, we will be sad and suffered. On the other hand, when we dislike something and that comes into our life, we will be sad and suffered as well."

Finding this wisdom during his long practices, Thammatipo sets out to preach and help people set free from these emotions. "Because this practice is so useful and at the same time so simple it can be easily adapted into all moments of our lives. Children and adults can all benefit from this wisdom and live happily with the trained and clear mind instead of living in the darkness of emotions."

Doo-Jit means tracing our mind of all the fleeting feelings that come our ways. It is living our life in a total awareness and conscience and not attached our feelings to those temporal matters. Those who can not detach their mind from those feelings will live in the 'vicious circle' of discontent, anger, vengefulness and resentment. But those with such awareness and wisdom will rise above those unwanted feelings, thus being able to obtain the true happiness from within.

"Because this practice is so useful and at the same time so simple it can be easily adapted into all moments of our lives. Children and adults can all benefit from this wisdom and live happily with the trained and clear mind instead of living in the darkness of emotions."

"Being nonchalant with our feeling does not mean we are doing nothing with our life," explains Thammatipo. "It is all about accepting all things as they are, without any emotional attachments. Everything in this world evolves naturally and always fleet away eventually. Nothing is eternal. Our mind, emotions are not eternal and our body is not eternal. Bearing this simple wisdom in mind means we always have headlight on every road we take in life. Comparing this to driving, with the headlights on in the dark, you see clearly the road conditions and act wisely when you are approaching potholes. You would slow down instead of speeding up when the roads get rough. That would prevent your car, or your mind, to suffer."

At Thammatipo's Home, Doo-Jit training can be arranged for any group of at least 30 people. Thammatipo Center is a private residence of Boonsri Dararaj, the follower of Thammatipo who after years of practicing this wisdom, thought about having a proper venue for groups of people interested in finding their inner happiness. Boonsri founded this house in Nakhon Chai Si district of Nakhon Pathom back in 2005 and has now organized Doo-Jit camps for many groups, ranging from students to teenagers and from workaholics to engineers.

"People always seek for 'freedom,'" explains Thammatipo. "But even if they are all alone in their rooms, they are not yet free because they still 'think' and 'feel' things. They still search for materials in the hope that they will fulfill their happiness. They ask for more money to be 'free' from works and sufferings. But the real freedom comes from within and the practiced mind is the heart of the matters."

Daily activities include

- The workshop can range from three days onward and at the cost-recovery basis, meaning you can set your own budget and the Home can arrange the facilities for you accordingly.
- Morning Yoga Exercise
 - Dharma Practices of Mind Tracing (Doo-Jit)
 - Compassion Prayer
 - Mind Power Practices
 - Dharma talks (with Thammatipo and other teachers)
 - Compassion Prayer
 - Dharma movies
 - Painting session
 - Self Expressive session

For Your Information

- Thammatipo's Home is a private home and needs to be arranged in advance for a visit and workshop. The workshop started five years ago with Boonsri and her friends setting out to facilitate the Doo-Jit practice for other people because they consider the practice so useful but very easy to be incorporated into the real life.
- Thammatipo explains that when we live our life entangled in the vicious emotional circle, our body reacts by sending out tangible symptoms such as stresses, neck and back pains, thyroid disorders, high blood pressure and even heart failure, for instance. This is because the mind and body are closely related; the practiced clear mind can heal those physical sufferings, too.
- Children can also benefit from The Doo-Jit practice. In fact, Thammatipo's Home has organized several summer Doo-Jit camps for young children, teens and adolescents. Boonsri witnessed from her own eyes that children, despite being naturally full of beans, can hold it steady during the practices. Once these children can separate their feelings from their minds, they will not be attached to emotions and live their lives in full awareness, conscience and compassion.
